FRANK GUNN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

How's this for an ethnically diverse crowd?

An Arab community leader is incensed over an email from a Conservative campaign worker seeking people in "ethnic costume" to serve as props at an event with Stephen Harper. It's not known if other cultural groups received the request. But the Arab federation's president, Khaled Mouammar, said he was so insulted he didn't respond to the email.

Woman to be deported five years after ex-minister spoke at her husband's funeral

"My husband was not a terrorist. I am also not a terrorist. He was an innocent man. A man of the people."
SUGUNANAYAKE JOSEPH

After her husband was assassinated during midnight mass at a church in Sri Lanka on Christmas Eve 2005, Canada welcomed Sugunanayake Joseph.

Five years later, the Immigration and Refugee Board has ordered the 74-year-old Toronto grandmother deported, concluding her role as a politician's wife — supporting her late husband's career and accompanying him to political events — amounted to membership in a designated terrorist organization.

Joseph was also wounded in the 2005 shooting. Shortly afterward, the federal government issued her a visitor's visa.

But when she made a refugee claim in 2007, the federal government alleged Joseph was inadmissible because she had belonged to a terrorist organization in Sri Lanka.

A refugee board hearing began in July 2009 and lasted two years.

In a Feb. 17 decision, an adjudicator found that by a series of associations Joseph belonged to the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam.

Although neither Joseph nor her husband had formal membership in the LTTE, he was one of 22 Sri Lankan MPs who formed a coalition in 2001 known as the Tamil National Assembly, which pushed for peace negotiations between the government and the Tamil independence movement.

Burn. No cause for alarm

▶ Toronto's urban forestry unit oversaw a "controlled" burn Thursday in four areas of High Park.

RICK MADONIK/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

'Controlled' fire in High Park

A prescribed burn is a deliberately-set, low-burning fire, intended to clear off vegetation that competes with the park's rare black oak woodlands and savannahs, as well as enrich the soil and promote growth. Thursday's fire engulfed dried leaves and twigs, but did not harm larger trees.

T.O. G20 activists latch on to ruling

Tactics of London police during Britain's G20 summit in 2009 were unlawful, court says

The kettling of G20 protesters in London was illegal, a British High Court has ruled in a case with sweeping implications in Toronto.

The decision Thursday by the Queen's Bench justices said police were working "in good faith" but still overreacted when they corralled 4,500 people inside a Climate Camp in London for three hours on April 1, 2009.

"The police may only take such preventive action as a last resort catering for situations about to descend into violence," ruled the Queen's Bench justices.

"The test of necessity is met only in truly extreme and exceptional cases."

"It is not necessary to make thousands of others suffer because police can't be bothered to arrest the ones who are responsible."
LAWYER JOHN HALFORD

"This is groundbreaking," lawyer John Halford, representing the claimants Hannah McClure and Josh Moos, told the Toronto Star. "Never has there been a judicial review challenging a mass use of force by a lot of officers at once."

Murray Klippenstein, who has filed a $45-million class-action lawsuit against the Toronto Police Services Board over the G20 in Toronto last June, said, "This case is very important and will be used by us in the court."

Office administrator Sherry Good is representing everyone wrongfully arrested, detained, imprisoned or held by police June 26 or 27.

Good had been among about 200 protesters and bystanders boxed in by police for four hours June 27 in a downpour at Queen Street and Spadina Avenue.

The British ruling "is not legally binding but would be persuasive," said Klippenstein. "The underlying principles that balance freedom to speak publicly in the street go back a long way in Canada and Britain." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Tories quit over $10M hospital grant

The minute Ottawa announced a $10-million gift toward plans for a Vaughan hospital, the sharp questions began. The money would go not to hospital construction, federal officials said last month, but to something called the Vaughan Health Campus of Care.

▶ Julian Fantino

"A lot of people from the Campus of Care worked on your by-election campaign," a reporter pointed out to Julian Fantino, who became Vaughan's Conservative MP last fall. "Are you worried how that looks?"

"I've never worried about cynics," Fantino replied.

But with less than three weeks to go before the next federal vote, two members of Fantino's riding association quit noisily Wednesday, saying federal money going to a private corporation run by Fantino supporters looks bad.

21 arrested in meth bust

It took 18 months and the co-ordinated efforts of 175 police officers to make what investigators are calling one of the largest seizures of methamphetamine (crystal meth) in Ontario's history.

Early Wednesday morning, officers executed 23 search warrants from across the province, including the city of Hamilton and the regions of Halton and Peel.

With the help of the RCMP and the Canadian Border Services Agency, more than $3 million in crystal meth and $1 million in anabolic steroids were seized by authorities.

The operation resulted in 21 arrests, including an officer with Hamilton police, who allegedly leaked information to the main target of the investigation, said chief Glenn De Caire.

Last call for Dufferin Mall Youth Services

▶ Abrigo Centre, the agency that funds DMYS, announced it is shutting the drop-in centre

Shaneka Keslow figures she would be homeless if it wasn't for the drop-in centre at Dufferin Mall Youth Services and its staff.

They've been a lifeline for her and other vulnerable, marginalized youth who fear that, after 17 years, the drop-in will close for good. So they are mobilizing in the hopes a Good Samaritan will save it.

They have appealed to the Provincial Advocate for Children and Youth, acknowledging that, while funding for drop-ins may be scarce, "it is important to have our voices heard to ensure that these spaces are protected," the kids wrote in postcards to Irwin Elman.

"My life was in shambles and I believe street life was my only option," said Keslow, 17, who came to DMYS a year ago, destitute and alone. Program co-ordinator Shani Kipang helped set her on a better path. "Without her I don't know where I'd be," said Keslow, who found housing and returned to school. She has become a volunteer at the drop-in where she feels part of a community — safe and secure.

"We're trying to strike a balance between drop-in and structured programs," executive director of Abrigo, Cristina Santos, said, adding Abrigo will continue to offer counselling services, a leadership program and boys' group. The Abrigo Centre Youth Program is slated to open at the mall in September.

But it's the informality of the drop-in that's been the keystone to the success of DMYS, said Priscella Millwood, a volunteer at the centre. It's where 12 to 24 year olds could access services on an as-needed basis without appointments or long waits. The drop-in offered a variety of programs and services including support for mental health issues and legal matters, as well as violence and family counselling.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Loss of purpose

Without the drop-in, Devaun Cashe, 19, said there is no reason for him to make the long trek from his Jane-Finch neighbourhood to the mall. "It will mean a loss of purpose for us all," cautioned Cashe, a volunteer youth co-ordinator. "I was given duties, a binder and a purpose. When you build roots, it's not so easy to rip them up."

Mary Alkerton, general manager at Primaris Management Inc., said space has been provided to Abrigo "for the purpose of planning and operating non-profit teen support and educational programs," she wrote in an email.

Appeal dismissed in 1985 shooting

Ontario's highest court has dismissed the appeal of a man who was convicted twice for the 1985 shooting of a fellow drug dealer.

Rodney Cain, 51, spent more than a decade behind bars trying to prove himself innocent of murder.

Cain admits he shot 32-year-old Joel Williams in a parking lot outside a club, but maintains that he did it in self-defence.

In May 2004, Canada's justice minister quashed Cain's conviction of second-degree murder and ordered a new trial after a witness recanted his testimony.

The jury found Cain guilty of manslaughter and he was sentenced to one day in jail on top of the 13 years he had already served.

The Ontario Court of Appeal dismissed Cain's appeal of the manslaughter charge.

Morning police raid in Rosedale leads to 4 arrests

Neighbours report there was suspicious activity going on at the house for quite some time

A dramatic Thursday morning raid that shocked the upscale Mount Pleasant neighbourhood north of Bloor Street has led to police arresting four people, including one woman.

Police would only say that the Financial Crimes Unit, formerly the fraud squad, is investigating and more details on any charges will be released later.

The mammoth three-storey building at 120 and 126 Mt. Pleasant Cres., built in the late 1800s, is split between a private home and a four-plex of guest suites and is owned by the estate of Maria Marziliano, who passed away unexpectedly in 1998.

One side of the property, Rosedale Guest Suites, operates as a short-term rental property. The other side of the building at the corner of Mount Pleasant Road, at Meredith Cres., is a private residence.

A trustee who is looking after the estate was not available for comment. Legal documents show that the property has been part of a legal dispute argued in the Ontario Superior Court. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Estate A source said that one of the three or four beneficiaries of Maria Marziliano's estate is wanted for questioning in the investigation. Police would not confirm this and the Toronto Star could not independently confirm this.

Safe injection site has support, report shows

Study to determine whether Toronto, Ottawa would benefit from sites has been controversial from the start

Toronto business owners, residents, police and drug users say they could support a supervised drug consumption site if it meant getting drug use off city streets, according to preliminary results from a long-expected study on the issue.

This is the first indication clean, staffed medical clinics where addicts can inject or use illegal drugs, including heroin and crack cocaine, could be used in the city to curb disease and substance abuse.

The early findings, to be presented Friday at a Toronto HIV conference, show community members and other stakeholders are not overwhelmingly opposed to supervised consumption sites.

In one of three studies to be presented, nearly half the people polled felt strongly that supervised injection facilities should be made available if the goal was to reduce disease.

"There were very few people who say they would never support a site," said Dr. Ahmed Bayoumi, a co-principal investigator of the study and scientist at the Centre for Research on Inner City Health at St. Michael's Hospital.

Currently, Insite in Vancouver's Downtown Eastside is the only supervised consumption site in Canada.

It has been dogged by controversy since opening its doors in 2003, and the federal government, which questions its usefulness, is trying to shut it down.

The case will be heard by the Supreme Court of Canada in May.

Party leaders get set for an 18-day sprint

24 Sussex Drive is the winning post But will Canadian voters shake off their election blahs?

Election 2011

Now comes the hard part.

After the TV debates, all four party leaders hit the election trail Thursday to begin the 18-day sprint to the May 2 election.

The two debates could signal the start of serious public engagement in an election campaign that appears not to have galvanized the electorate.

And backdrops are something every polished campaigner tries to ensure will properly project their campaign message.

Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff was at a hardware store in Gatineau, Que., making a pitch for his party's permanent home energy retrofit program.

NDP Leader Jack Layton, flanked by his lone MP from Quebec Thomas Mulcair, used his big orange campaign tour bus as a backdrop to stress his party's hopes of making inroads in Canada's second-biggest province.

And Prime Minister Stephen Harper, framed by a dozen Quebec Conservative candidates who applauded his every utterance, pounded on the theme of a majority government that could provide stability while rewarding the "regions" that see fit to elect Tories.

Ethnic angst

- Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff picked up Thursday where he left off during the televised leaders' debates, lambasting Prime Minister Stephen Harper over an email a Tory campaign worker sent out seeking people in "ethnic costume" to serve as a backdrop at an event with the PM.
- "The opportunity is to have up to 20 people in national folklore costumes, which represent their ethnic backgrounds," the email read.
- It added: "These people will sit in front row behind the PM — great TV photo-op."

Quebecer becomes social media darling

Deciding which party leader won the French language debates is a job for the political pundits. But there's no denying who stole the social media show.

And it wasn't a politician.

It was Quebec's Mugette Paille, one of the Canadians chosen to ask the leaders a pre-recorded question during Wednesday night's debate.

The 53-year-old, from Sainte-Angèle-de-Prémont, Que., shot to the top of trend charts on Twitter after she asked the four leaders what their parties were doing to help her find a job.

As the leaders fought it out, Paille's predicament came up again and again.

Within minutes, a Facebook page had been set up in her name, clips of her question were on YouTube and her last name was featured in more tweets than issues like jobs or taxes.

She is now being compared to Joe the Plumber, an American who shot to stardom during the 2008 U.S. elections when he asked Democrat Barack Obama about small business taxes.

The Republicans turned him into a metaphor for middle-class America.

Paille demurred when in a post-debate interview it was suggested she was a star.

"No, you're exaggerating," she said.

Meanwhile, both debates struck some online users as quite similar.

"So far, the French debate is very similar to the English debate in that all the people asking the questions are white," was one tweet widely circulated.

Others wondered why there weren't questions from francophones outside Quebec.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quite a crowd

The French debate drew about one-third as much social media attention as the previous night's English event.

- An analysis by The Canadian Press found that about 13,000 debate-related tweets had been sent by the time the French event was over.
- That was a far cry from the English totals, which exceeded 35,000 tweets.
- "It was a very different debate," said digital public affairs strategist Mark Blevis, who conducted the analysis. "It didn't have the same kind of traction."
- Blevis uses a program called Sysomos to scan Twitter and other sites.
- The most common debate-related keyword was Quebec, which appeared more than 1,100 times.

Filmmaker weighs in

Filmmaker Michael Moore provided analysis of the election debates on Twitter.

Two quips from @MMFlint:

• "One of the great things when u live on the Canadian border is watching their political process. It's like tuning in 2 Mars (but a smart Mars)."

• "Here's hoping the Canadians can lose their Bush-lite PM ..."

Chrétien: Who needs a majority?

Jean Chrétien took aim Thursday at Prime Minister Stephen Harper's plea for a majority government.

"You know, most of the countries in the world don't have majority governments," Chrétien, who himself won three consecutive majorities, said in Montreal.

"Only in Canada, when I was there, we had three. In all humility."

Chrétien said the Liberals' election campaign has been better than most Canadians thought.

"Not bad, better than expected," he said. "But we knew that the day of the election (call)."

‘Gunfire ... explosions’

Witnesses: Gadhafi forces shell rebel-held city, kill 13 civilians Tripoli hit by new blasts

Forces loyal to Moammar Gadhafi shelled a besieged western city Thursday, killing at least 13 people, and new NATO airstrikes shook Tripoli as the U.S. told a meeting the alliance must intensify its mission to isolate the Libyan leader and “bring about his departure.”

After the explosions in Tripoli, one resident of a western suburb of the capital said anti-aircraft guns returned fire, apparently at NATO warplanes.

“A lot of gunfire followed the explosions,” said the resident, who spoke on condition of anonymity because she feared government retaliation. A column of smoke rose in a southeastern part of the city.

East vs. West

- Rebels now hold eastern Libya, while Gadhafi controls the west, with the front line shifting back and forth in the middle. Three weeks of international air strikes haven’t routed Gadhafi’s forces.

Libyan state television showed video of Gadhafi defiantly pumping his fists in the air as he stood through the sunroof of a car moving quickly through the streets of Tripoli.

It said Gadhafi’s tour came at the same time as NATO air strikes on military and civilian areas of the capital and Aziziyah, about 35 kilometres to the south, adding there were civilian casualties. The report could not be confirmed immediately.

UN Secretary General Ban Ki-moon chaired a Cairo meeting of regional and international organizations on Libya and set three targets: Reaching and implementing a ceasefire; delivering humanitarian aid; and starting a dialogue on Libya’s future.

“Shelling your own people is not acceptable,” he said at a meeting at Arab League headquarters, referring to actions by Gadhafi’s forces against anti-government rebels.

Alleged French militants arrested in Pakistan

▶ Indonesians gather at a field to pray for peace and mark the anniversary of the 2002 Bali bombing on the island in Denpasar.

Two suspected Islamist extremists from France have been arrested in Pakistan after meeting with a man accused of ties to al-Qaida, and linked to the 2002 Bali bombing, officials said Thursday.

The Frenchmen, who have not been identified, were arrested at a bus stop in the eastern city of Lahore in late January after going there from the airport with a man identified as Tahir Shehzad, a Pakistani intelligence official said.

Information from Shehzad led Pakistani agents to Umar Patek, an Indonesian al-Qaida-linked suspect detained Jan. 25, the official said.

The Frenchmen had intended to travel with Patek to Pakistan’s North Waziristan region where al-Qaida’s top command is based, he said on condition of anonymity.

It was not immediately clear if the men were suspected of plotting a terror attack, but Western counterterrorism and spy agencies have been intensely monitoring the movements of suspected militants from their countries to Pakistan out of concern they could train there and return home to carry out attacks.

Ex-colonel's divorce to remain private

THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Russell Williams is shown in this court-released image from his interrogation by police captured on video and shown Wednesday in a Belleville, Ont., courtroom.

Wife's name, financial and medical records under publication ban
Media lawyers argue against seal, citing freedom of the press

An Ottawa court has ruled that divorce proceedings involving convicted sex killer Russell Williams and his wife will remain under a publication ban.

The former colonel's wife, who can now no longer be named, had argued for a seal on her financial and medical records.

That covers a domestic deal the couple signed shortly after Williams was charged with two counts of first-degree murder in the deaths of two eastern Ontario women.

Justice Jennifer MacKinnon has ruled that the domestic contract will remain under a publication ban until it is tendered as an exhibit in the case.

She also sealed sensitive portions of Williams' wife's personal medical information, which had been put before court.

Williams was a rising star in the military and commander at Canadian Forces Base Trenton before being sentenced to life in prison for the murders, a pair of sexual assaults and dozens of fetish break-ins.

Lawyers for several media outlets have been arguing against the ban.

Media lawyer Richard Dearden told The Canadian Press the outlets "are pleased that the judge has denied the request for a sweeping sealing order but are analyzing whether the various non-publication orders minimally impair freedom of the press."

Huge arsenal found

- Ivory Coast president's first order is getting Abidjan functioning
- Once known as the Paris of West Africa, Abidjan turns to fear, death

More than 500 BM-21 missiles were found Thursday stacked in green wooden crates in the basement of Ivory Coast's Presidential Palace, where foreign leaders had come only weeks ago to mediate a peaceful end to the country's political crisis.

The extent of strongman Laurent Gbagbo's arsenal is now coming into focus as it is discovered in caches around the city, enough military might to wage an extended civil war had Gbagbo not been captured Monday.

"We have here significant stocks of heavy arms, which shows clearly that the UN Security Council resolution was appropriate and that the opportunity was taken to get rid of these weapons," said President Alassane Ouattara's secretary general Amadou Gon Coulibaly, referring to the resolution that authorized the UN and French helicopters to attack and destroy heavy arms last week.

Pro-Gbagbo soldiers held out for days at the luxurious Presidential Palace in the centre of the city, which was only conquered Wednesday. On Thursday, Coulibaly surveyed the premises and found the arms caches.

In the basement of the palace, an Associated Press reporter counted at least 532 cases of BM-21 missiles, each one more than eight feet long. Crates of mortars, grenades and ammunition littered the sprawling gardens and boxes of emergency medical supplies were stacked in an office.

All around Abidjan Thursday, teams of Red Cross workers shovelled charred corpses into bags while UN peacekeepers gathered more weapons, throwing them into dump trucks for disposal.

"We need to secure the country, notably Abidjan," Ouattara said at his first press conference Wednesday. "There are still arms caches, but we will get rid of them with our allied forces ... These weapons will be gathered and burned."

EU luring Gadhafi defectors by lifting restrictive sanctions

The European Union has rewarded the most senior official to defect from the regime of Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi by unfreezing his assets and lifting a visa ban that had barred him from travelling in any of the 27 EU countries.

Lifting sanctions against former foreign minister Moussa Koussa — agreed to Tuesday but made public Thursday — was at least in part an attempt to lure other senior figures into deserting Gadhafi, an EU official said.

Lifting the sanctions required the assent of all European Union countries. But the official said the action was taken at the request of Britain, to which Koussa flew March 30 to defect. The official spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss confidential deliberations.

Accusations

The Libyan opposition blames Koussa for the assassinations of dissidents in western capitals and for orchestrating the 1988 bombing over Lockerbie, Scotland, and the bombing of another jet over Niger a year later. The links have never been confirmed.

The British Foreign Office issued a statement Thursday explaining its reasoning.

"Sanctions are introduced to invoke behavioural change and as Moussa Koussa has chosen to leave the regime he is no longer sanctioned in this way," the statement said.

Koussa was a trusted Gadhafi adviser.

U.K. bans exports of 3 execution drugs to U.S.

Britain urges European Commission to block drugs to all European nations to protest death penalty

Britain said yesterday it will block the export of three lethal injection drugs to the United States and is also urging a Europe-wide ban on American sales of the drugs.

Business Secretary Vince Cable said a block on exports of pentobarbital, pancuronium bromide and potassium chloride would be formalized in a few days.

"We oppose the death penalty in all circumstances and are clear that British drugs should not be used to carry out lethal injections," Cable said. "Because of the importance and urgency of the situation this is an issue on which we felt we had to take the lead."

Human rights

- In November, Britain blocked exports of the sedative sodium thiopental for use in executions following a legal challenge from a human rights group.

Reprieve, the London-based group for prisoner rights that sought the ban, welcomed the news but it said U.S. states imposing the death penalty via lethal injection are now turning to a Danish company, Lundbeck A/S, for supplies of pentobarbital. Denmark's foreign minister said she will urge U.S. states to stop using that drug.

Pentobarbital is a sedative with a range of medical uses, including the treatment of epileptic seizures and other conditions that require sedation.

Boy recalls mother's 'mistake'

10-year-old said mom told him, 'If I'm going to die, you're all going to die with me' before their car plunged into a river His three siblings drowned

The 10-year-old who swam ashore as his mom and three siblings drowned in a sinking minivan says his mother told her kids, "You're all going to die with me," then changed her mind and tried, too late, to back out of the frigid Hudson River, according to the woman who found the sopping wet boy.

Meave Ryan was driving past the boat ramp in Newburgh Tuesday when she spotted La'Shaun Armstrong waving his arms.

"He heard his mother saying, 'I made a mistake, I made a terrible mistake.' And she tried to reverse the car out, but at that time, it was too late." MEAVE RYAN

Ryan said the boy told her that his mother, Lashanda Armstrong, had a "big, big argument about my stepdad's cheating on her," then piled her four children in the minivan and sped into the river.

Ryan added that the boy said Armstrong had held the kids as the minivan began sinking.

"She was holding on to all of them and said, 'If I'm going to die, you're all going to die with me.' She said that two or three times," Ryan said.

But as the vehicle sank, La'Shaun broke free of his mother's grasp and clambered out a window.

Why he shot kids

Rio gunman 'was mentally ill' and felt humiliated, disrespected

A 23-year-old gunman who killed 12 children in his former school in Rio de Janeiro acted alone, the city's homicide chief said Thursday.

Interviews with neighbours, family members and ex-classmates made it clear the shooter, Wellington Oliveira, "always acted alone," said Felipe Ettore.

"He is mentally ill, and had a psychotic episode that culminated with this tragedy that moved the entire country," said Ettore.

A week ago, Oliveira walked into the pastel green-and-yellow building where he had attended elementary and junior high school, pulled two guns out of a backpack and started shooting the terrified children.

Ten girls and two boys died.

A prince's day job

William pilots rescue chopper

Dense fog curled around the Welsh mountains and fierce winds rattled the cockpit of the military rescue helicopter.

At the controls, plotting a path to a stranded heart attack victim, was a newly engaged air force co-pilot.

Prince William — or Flight Lt. Wales, as he is known to his Royal Air Force colleagues — pushed his Sea King aircraft through the gloom, swooping low so the man could be winched from the hillside and raced to a hospital.

The mission last November — two days after the prince and Kate Middleton announced plans to marry — is typical of the sometimes risky rescues performed by the king-to-be in his unlikely day job: Patrolling Britain's coast with a military search squadron.

The 28-year-old has repeatedly aired his frustration that military chiefs have barred him from serving in Afghanistan, dismissing as "hyped up" the belief that — as a future king — he would be a target for insurgents.

The prince and Middleton will tie the knot in Westminster Abbey April 29.

Remembering tragic voyage

Titanic hit iceberg at 11:40 p.m. April 14, 1912, and sank at 2:20 a.m. the next day Canadians on the Titanic: 132

JENNIFER TAPLIN
HALIFAX@METRONEWS.CA

The 100th anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic is less than a year away.

Halifax, home of the most Titanic graves in the world, will be hosting a centennial commemorative event next year. It's the only city in North America with direct ties to the famous shipwreck.

Organizer Ken Pinto said the event will walk the fine line between festival and sombre memorial for the more than 1,500 people who died 99 years ago.

Titanic 100 will feature a three-day conference for historians and scientists, as well as wakes, art exhibits, concerts, and a film festival.

Pinto said the three cemeteries with Titanic graves will be refurbished in preparation for the crowds next year. There will also be a public monument placed somewhere on the Halifax waterfront.

Organizers also want to create a Titanic Trail linking the 21 historical sites in the Halifax Regional Municipality and the three spots where director James Cameron shot the movie Titanic in 1996.

"We're hoping to have James Cameron (at the conference in 2012), but he's the most famous person in the world now, although he is Canadian and loves Halifax," Pinto said.

There will be two free concerts — one involving Irish performers and the other featuring a Celtic gospel theme.

"The event will be substantial when we mark the tragic occasion of the sinking of the Titanic," said Brian Doherty, Titanic 100 organizer.

Similar events will be held in Ireland, the U.K., and the U.S.

Too good to be true? Or just really good.

All this for less than $1 a day.

Cruise ship to retrace journey

Next year, a cruise ship will retrace the Titanic's tragic path and complete its journey.

The Balmoral will sail with 1,309 paying passengers — the same number that were on the Titanic.

It will follow the ship's path starting from Southampton, England, stopping in Ireland, and to the spot the Titanic hit an iceberg for a memorial ceremony.

It will arrive in Halifax April 16 before sailing on to New York, Titanic's intended destination.

Historians will brief the passengers along the way and the menus and entertainment will copy what was on board the Titanic.

RIM'S STATE OF

RIM tablet is no Apple slayer, tough early reviews say But critics hold out hope for the final product

The advance reviews of Research In Motion's PlayBook are in, and they're generally not good.

The New York Times' prominent tech writer David Pogue calls the tablet "half-baked" and says "it seems almost silly to try to assess it, let alone buy it."

Pogue is one of several U.S. reviewers given early access to the tablet, which RIM hopes can compete with Apple's iPad 2.

While reviews had good things to say about the PlayBook's hardware, its Flash-able web browser and slick interface, most were largely negative and focused on missing features still not available.

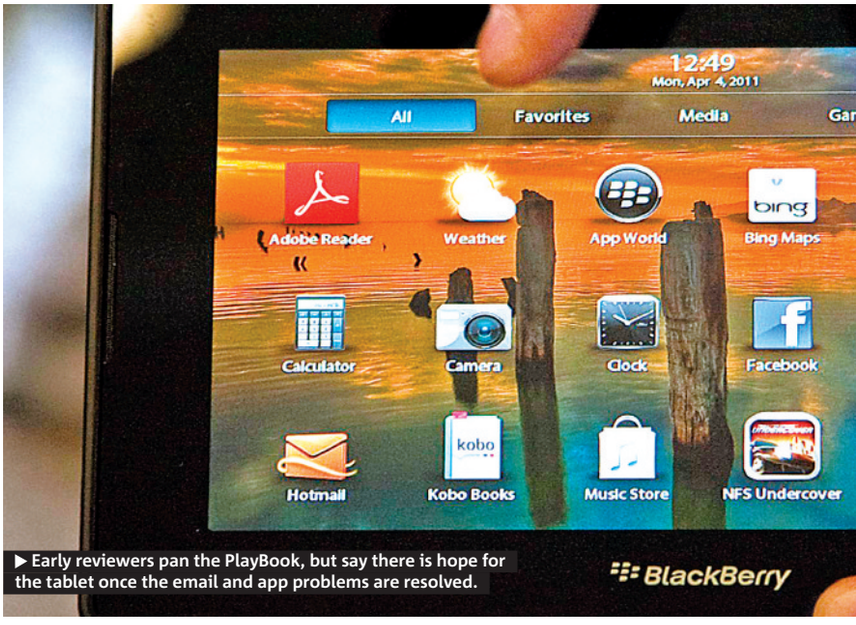
"RIM has just shipped a BlackBerry product that cannot do email. It must be skating season in hell."
DAVID POGUE, THE NEW YORK TIMES

RIM sent out multiple software updates for the PlayBook while reviewers were assessing it and most reviewers indicated there's hope for the device — once it's in a truly finished state.

Some lamented that the first version being released is Wi-Fi only and cannot connect to mobile networks.

A handful of critical apps, including those for email, BlackBerry Messenger and contacts, appear on the PlayBook only when a wireless link is established with a BlackBerry. When the link is broken, those apps disappear off the tablet. It's a security feature that business users may appreciate. But consumers will have to wait several months for a promised update before they can keep those essential apps on the PlayBook at all times.

"For now, the PlayBook's motto might be, 'There's no app for that,'" Pogue wrote. THE CANADIAN PRESS



▶ Early reviewers pan the PlayBook, but say there is hope for the tablet once the email and app problems are resolved.

'There's no app for that': Reviewer

Most reviews noted the lack of PlayBook apps available out of the gate, especially when compared to the iPad's fully stocked App Store.

RIM has said the PlayBook will eventually run some Android apps, which is promising, if properly implemented, Engadget reviewer Tim Stevens wrote.

"The ability to run Android apps could totally change the game — or it could be a non-event. We won't know until RIM flips the switch and lets us all try it out."

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some reviewers claimed battery life didn't fully live up to RIM's stated maximum of 10 hours, particularly when playing a lot of video.

Raging loonie feeds price gap

Canadian consumers are paying at least 20 per cent more for some goods than U.S. counterparts

A flyaway loonie has given rise to a massive price discrepancy. Douglas Porter, deputy chief economist of the Bank of Montreal, notes that in the summer of 2009 the spread was just less than seven per cent. With the rebound in the currency, the gap has widened even more.

BMO's survey compared 11 items. For example, a Blu-ray copy of The King's Speech cost $24.99 in Canada, 28 per cent more than it would have cost in the U.S. in Canadian dollars. Titleist's premier ProV1 golf balls were 11 per cent more expensive in Canada at $49.99, versus $45.07 south of the border.

Market moment

PRICES AS OF 5 P.M. THURSDAY

TSX	Dollar
– 11.84 (13,821.8)	+ 0.28¢ (104.19¢ US)
Oil	Natural gas
+ $1 US ($108.11 US)	1,000 cu ft $4.078 US (– 6.3¢ US)
	Gold contracts $1,472.40 US (+ $16.80 US)

The biggest discrepancy was with running shoes, which averaged $147.99 in Canada, 48 per cent more than if the shoes were purchased in the U.S.

It's hard to pinpoint just one reason for the gap. The U.S. retail sector is more competitive than Canada's and subject to far more discounting. The U.S. economy is also in tougher shape, making it hard to sustain higher prices. And Canadian importers negotiate prices with suppliers early in the year, so swings in currency may not reflect that until later.

Bruce Cran of the Consumers' Association of Canada says Canadians "are being gouged."

FRIGHTENED FOR CHARLIE

1 Wedding of the Century. Up to two billion people are expected to tune in for Will & Kate's Big Day on April 29, making this the most watched TV event in history — not to mention one of the biggest social media days. So if you're not into the royal wedding, you might want to find a cabin deep in the woods and be a luddite for a day.

2 Charlie Sheen Tour. His roller-coaster jeers/cheers Violent Torpedo Of Truth tour hit Toronto last night and tonight. The big question remains: Are Charlie's showgoers and his 3.5 million-plus followers on Twitter (@CHARLIESHEEN) merely enablers to his mental issues and addictions he is battling? Dr. Drew, who has said, "I'm frightened for the guy," might agree.

3 Hockey Fever. Political parties moved the date of the French language debate to Wednesday from Thursday to avoid conflicting with a Montreal Canadiens' playoff game against their arch-rival Boston Bruins. This may be an (other) important election, but you don't want to compete with hockey-mad viewers.

4 Bronx Zoo. Its World of Reptiles exhibit will now be quite the tourist attraction after its Egyptian cobra escaped and someone created a hilarious @bronxzooscobra Twitter account (with 241,000 followers and counting), tweeting its time on the run, er, slither. The snake was found and the zoo held a "submit a name" promotion for the world-famous cobra. The winner after 60,000 votes were cast? Mia.

5 Piers Morgan. Larry who? Some questioned the choice to replace the iconic Larry King with Piers Morgan, who was best known as being a judge on America's Got Talent. But Morgan now hosts the most watched news program on CNN — Piers Morgan Tonight — and has become must-watch TV for his hard-ball-with-a-cheeky-grin questions.

6 John Deere, Meet Wal-Mart. A passerby happened to catch a driverless John Deere tractor's destructive run around a Wal-Mart parking lot in Richmond Hill. And he began filming. As someone says during the video taping, "Put 'em on YouTube!!" Well, the filmer did just that and "Tractor demolition derby at Wal-Mart superstore parking lot in Richmond Hill" has gone viral, with nearly 400,000 views.

7 @mondoville on Twitter. It's like Canada's version of Gawker.com or Anderson Cooper's "Keeping Them Honest" segments, but in tweets. This "handmade social media news stream" has no sacred cows, and is not afraid to challenge the Canadian media/entertainment/biz/tech industry, or ask for more transparency. Refreshing.

Worth mentioning

MOSCOW. Russia has banned the hunting of polar bears this year, thanks to a group with close ties to Prime Minister Vladimir Putin, a longtime defender of large endangered animals.

A Russian-U.S. commission last year agreed to restrict polar bear hunting to 29 animals per year for each country. But The Polar Bear program, established under Putin's patronage, said this week that Russia had waived its quota for bear hunting.

The Polar Bear program, which said U.S. officials had long been reluctant to introduce the cap on hunting, said approximately 100 polar bears a year have been killed in Alaska in recent years.

"Measures taken by Russia will ensure that the United States will be killing at least 70 polar bears fewer than before, which, according to Russian specialists, will help to sustain and boost the population of this beautiful Arctic animal," the group said in a statement posted on Putin's official website.

WEIRD NEWS

As long as it's not that Friday song

It's a whale of a tune — literally. Male humpback whales off the coast of eastern Australia develop a catchy tune each year that they sing to impress lady humpbacks, AFP News reports.

Researchers say the tune spreads to other male whales across the South Pacific Ocean and different groups of whales then sing it throughout the mating season, according to a study released Thursday by the University of Queensland.

All the catchy whale songs over the past decade originated off the eastern coast of Australia and spread as far as the French Polynesia.

Scientists are puzzled as to why the whales all sing the same song, since it appears they do it to attract a mate. And they're not all that original. While the occasional new song has surfaced, the whales usually seem to mix tunes from previous seasons to create a new sound.

The 11-year project is described as the first documented study of "repeated, dynamic cultural change occurring across multiple populations at such a large geographic scale." METRO

Colourful, musical Rio

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate the merits of Rio ◐ Musical numbers, strong supporting cast lift a weak story to not quite to Pixar levels

Richard Crouse: Mark, I have to get the 800 pound elephant — or in this case, the big blue bird — out of the way right away. Let me say that Rio has an OK story and fine animation but it really lacks the depth of a Pixar film. Maybe I'm spoiled, but when I watch animated movies, whether they are Dreamworks, or, like this one, from Fox, I can't help but think, What would the wizards at Pixar have done with this story?

Mark Breslin: Richard, I agree. Pixar is the gold standard of animated films, but sometimes, you just have to go for the bronze. Or as Stephen Stills once sang, "If you can't be with the one you love, love the one you're with." I found there were a lot of things to enjoy about the movie, even if it wasn't Pixar perfect. Let's start with the look and setting: ravishing colour palette and exotic location: Rio.

RC: Don't get me wrong, Rio is perfectly serviceable. It's colourful and filled with nice little touches like a little bird who warms himself against a traffic light, flitting back-and-forth between the red and green lights, in snowy Minnesota. But even with all the good stuff it isn't particularly memorable. It'll keep the little ones occupied in the theatre — although very little kids may find some of the action a bit too intense — and has some good messages but there's no real sticky content here.

MB: Yes, the story is weak, and 15 minutes too long. But I found the movie came alive during the three musical numbers, and if there only had been more, a full-blown musical, the movie might have been a near classic. But there were nice moments of visual wit, and I appreciated Jesse Eisenberg's attempts at Woody Allen line readings. Nigel, the avian villain, is good, as is Tracy Morgan's drooly bulldog. Could have used more of him.

RC: I agree. The movie is just off by 20 per cent. I wasn't much taken with the voice work from the leads but will.i.am, Jamie Foxx, Morgan and particularly Jemaine Clement are great. When their characters are on screen the movie comes alive. When they're not, it doesn't really take flight.

MB: And although it is a sanitized version of Rio de Janeiro presented in the film, I was pleased to see some references to street urchins, favelas, pickpockets and bad Brazilian steakhouses as part of the movie.

Reese picks elephant over the vampire

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

Let's be honest, when Reese Witherspoon sits down to discuss her new film, Water for Elephants — an adaptation of the best-selling book about a young veterinary student (Twilight star Robert Pattinson) who joins a traveling circus and finds himself in a love triangle with the star performer (Witherspoon) and sadistic ringmaster (Christoph Waltz) — what inquiring minds really want to know is what it's like to kiss R. Patz?

"Rob possibly had the most hideous, horrible cold of any co-star I've ever had to do a love scene with ever in my entire (life)," Witherspoon admits with faux repulsion. "I'm talking green, infectious, disgusting! He was literally snorting and snotting through every second of it and it was not appealing. I was just trying not to get sick the whole time," she laughs.

While her rendezvous with Pattinson was less than ideal, Witherspoon forged another very deep connection on set with Tai, the film's titular pachyderm. Growing up in Tennessee, the 35-year-old Oscar-winner was used to riding horses but admits nothing prepared her to "ride (an elephant) bareback, in a leotard, holding on with one hand."

"I worked with Tai closely and intensely for a while, developing the routine and practicing," she explains. "It was a very emotional experience for me. One of my favourite stories, which speaks to the intelligence of (Tai) … was when we were shooting a night shoot really late one night. The next day she was so tired and I asked the trainers, 'Why is she so tired?' And they said, 'Well, she stayed up all night telling all the other elephants what she had been up to.' She lives with six other elephants, who talk to each other by roaring. … The trainers said the elephants roared for nearly an hour before they went to bed."

Perhaps one of the things Tai was trumpeting about was how glorious Witherspoon looks in the film, channeling Jean Harlow in tight platinum curls and luxurious satin dresses, that slither over her body. Witherspoon says she watched hours of old films to research her role, changing the way she walked, spoke and stood.

"I had this whole dream of doing an incredible '30s accent," the actress giggles, "and then after the first day (director Francis Lawrence) said, 'I don't think you should do that anymore. It's really hard to understand what you're saying.'"

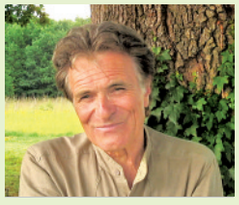
Movie reviews

See it twice | See it now | Worth watching | Yawn | Don't bother

Scream 4

Genre: Horror
Director: Wes Craven
Stars: Neve Campbell, Courteney Cox, David Arquette

Scream was a necessary adrenaline shot for the horror genre, revitalizing the slasher movie by poking fun at its conventions and clichés. Ironically the movie ends up being dragged down by the conventions of its own franchise and feels repetitively dull. Director Wes Craven is a master, so there are a handful of memorable scares and some clever commentary on celebrity culture, but overall Scream 4 is just a needless entry in a franchise past its prime. PHIL BROWN



Good Food, Bad Food

Genre: Documentary
Director: Coline Serreau
Stars: Vandana Shiva, Serge Latouche

Good Food, Bad Food is a bit like Inside Job if it focused on commercial farming instead of Wall Street. French director Coline Serreau travels globally to uncover how industrialization has devastated agriculture and why organic solutions matter. Didactic and bleak, the doc may be partisan but its message is weighty. STEVE GOW

American: The Bil Hicks Story

Genre: Documentary
Directors: Matt Harlock and Paul Thomas

Bill Hicks changed standup comedy forever while performing predominantly in obscurity. His acidic wit and satiric commentary on taboo subjects broke barriers until his untimely death at 32. This new documentary is a vivid portrayal of the late comedian's life compiled from hours of intimate interviews with his surviving family members and friends. PHIL BROWN

Mulroney: The Opera

Genre: Musical comedy
Director: Larry Weinstein
Stars: Rick Miller, Dan Redican, Stephanie Anne Mills

This is no gentle satire on our former PM Brian Mulroney. It actually says the words, names the names and gleefully re-opens wounds of a scandal-blackened political career that was neither kind nor gentle. This IS opera, performed by actors lip-synching to opera stars; expect ear shredding highs, rumbling lows and shock-induced laughs. It's zany, colourful, and takes no prisoners. ANNE BRODIE

Daydream Nation

Genre: Drama
Director: Michael Goldbach
Stars: Kat Dennings, Reece Thompson and Josh Lucas

Daydream Nation chronicles the year in Carolyn Wexler's (Kat Dennings) life in which "everything happened." She seduces her handsome English teacher (Josh Lucas). Complicating matters is an amorous gym teacher and a serial killer. This smart school story cleverly details the complicated, confusing aspects of teen life. RICHARD CROUSE

In a Better World

Genre: Foreign-language
Director: Susanne Bier
Stars: Mikael Persbrandt, Trine Dyrholm

This year's Academy Award winner for Best Foreign-Language Film, In a Better World clumsily combines two stories in one, juxtaposing a tale of bullying at a Danish junior high school with the threat of violence at an African refugee camp. In its attempt to draw parallels between clearly inequivalent scenarios, the film ends up trivializing both of them. ADAM NAYMAN

Locale, story draw Braff north

American TV and movie actor loved the idea of shooting a movie in Montreal that is actually set in Montreal

STEVE GOW
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

If most Hollywood actors were offered a chance to spend 15 days in wintery Montreal shooting in a low-budget Canadian movie, they'd swiftly fire their agent. For Zach Braff however, filming High Cost of Living under just those conditions was a bonus.

"I actually thought it was cool because so many movies come up to Canada to shoot Canada as the States," said the Scrubs-star recently in Toronto. "I just thought this is a movie in Montreal about Montreal. I don't think I've ever seen a movie about Montreal."

Although Braff admits a love for Quebec, High Cost lured the actor with more than just the story's locale.

A redemptive drama about an American ex-pat that secretly befriends his own hit-and-run victim, the acclaimed favourite fit perfectly into Braff's repertoire — including 2004's Garden State, which he also wrote and directed.

"Everyone can relate to the idea of wanting to be a better person and wanting to take back mistakes they've made," explained Braff. "I'm a sucker for love being the catalyst for making someone a better person; that was the case in Garden State definitely and it's a theme I'm drawn to — being saved by falling in love."

Braff was equally impressed by Toronto filmmaker Deborah Chow — who handled the stress of making her first feature film with a polished professionalism.

"I was in a movie once where the director just left — he couldn't handle it," laughed Braff. "There's so much pressure, especially when there's no money and you got these cooks in the kitchen and people doubting you. I don't know if (Chow) was freaking out in her head or not but she was really Zen and just navigated calmly."

Braff's resumé

Playwright. Zach Braff can soon add playwright to his resumé when his production, All New People, opens off-Broadway in June. "In the play world, you can get away with even more dialogue and character and less story than in the film world," said Braff. "I liked it in that regard."

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

#23

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air) :

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON. People's phone numbers on our website.

ACNE
Eczema
Psoriasis
Rosacea
Rashes

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

■ I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried Benzoyl Peroxide, Proactiv, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC ■ In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser, Clean Clear, Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX ■ Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product like Murad, Proactiv and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL ■ Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON ■ I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC ■ All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60.

Bell products are available in 8,000 health food stores and pharmacies across Canada and USA. Store locations on the Bell website:

MIGRAINE HEADACHES

#15

■ In the past 10 years I suffered a lot with migraines. I would take 4 popular pain killer and none of these worked well enough. After I found MIGRAID I was blown away as it really worked within 30 minutes with no side effects. I'm totally amazed. Absolutely floored. Michelle Woodman, 29, Crystal Falls, ON ■ I was in the hospital for 2 weeks. They made tests including MRIs, tried every drug they had. Nothing worked. I was praying to die. My mom found MIGRAID in the health food store. It worked in 10 minutes. I couldn't believe it. I want to express my gratitude. Christy Logue, 32, Tulsa, OK ■ For 15 years I tried all the OTCs as well as prescription drugs that were a lot more expensive than MIGRAID. I was pleasantly surprised about how effective it was every time within 30 minutes. Maranca Daniels, 42, Murfreesboro, TN ■ Guarantee printed on all boxes. Must help within 30 minutes or money refunded. Make your own test. It's risk free. Bell supplies EVIDENCE from real people. The only evidence you can trust.

THE DAY JOSH HOMME DIED

Sound Check
ALAN CROSS
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

JONATHAN WOOD/GETTY IMAGES

Josh Homme (Queens of the Stone Age, Them rooked Vultures, Eagles of Death Metal) isn't exactly a delicate figure. At six-foot-four and somewhere near 250 pounds, few people would be dumb enough to take him on. But even the most robust among us can collide head-on into our own mortality.

"I didn't even speak to my closest friends at that time because stories like this are so awful that you just don't want to tell anybody," he told me. "It's like saying 'This tasted like st. Here, taste it.'"

"I had surgery on my leg." Josh points to a spot on his upper left thigh. He continues quietly, still shaken. "During the surgery, they were unable to get the oxygen tube down my throat to resuscitate me. So my blood began to de-oxygenate. So I guess I was choking to death."

Josh goes very quiet. "And they lost me."

And when he says "lost," he means "full cardiac arrest." Flat-lined. Technically dead.

"They had to defibrillate me, which added a lot of recovery time because, essentially, you're being electrocuted." Josh was in bed for three months.

The next day, he shuffled through the hallways of the hospital with an IV pole. When QotSA guitarist Troy Van Leeuwen showed up with a giant bunch of balloons, "it was the most amazing thing I ever saw," he says.

So what about those mythical near-death experiences? Nothing — at least in Josh's experience. "I was out. I didn't see any tunnel or anything because I was under. But it kind of turned me around for a little bit because I'd never really been hurt like that. It makes a lot of stuff seem really trivial."

Initially, he didn't want to play music. "You start asking yourself why do all the people I don't know get all my love and attention and the people I really love… I'm gone so much. It took me a second to get back to where I am now, embracing music again."

Josh and his wife are expecting a second child in August. That's all that matters now.

Alison Krauss & Union Station's Paper Airplane takes flight

After a long delay, bluegrass supergroup releases its first album since 2004 Previous attempts just didn't feel right But a collaboration with Robert Lee Castleman inspired new material, including album's title track

Alison Krauss & Union Station needed songs — bad.

They had plenty to start with when they began recording for the album that would become Paper Airplane. Over time, though, they became disenchanted. Many of the songs just didn't feel right for the bluegrass supergroup known for the special quality of its material.

"It's quite possible that we canned three albums worth of material," singer and guitarist Dan Tyminski said. The band soon decided that its long-delayed and much-anticipated follow-up to 2004's Lonely Runs Both Ways would be delayed once again.

▶ Alison Krauss & Union Station

Most of the songs the band had already recorded didn't have that immediate feel they were looking for. They culled six from those first sessions, but that didn't make a complete album. So they started a search for more.

Krauss decided to lean on an old friend Robert Lee Castleman, who had come through for her many times in the past on Grammy-winning songs like The Lucky One and Restless. She got some bad news, though. Turned out Castleman was a very happy man.

"And he says, 'I'm dry. I don't have anything. I'm not inspired,'" Krauss said. "He's always written about love and it not working out and he's now married with a beautiful daughter and a beautiful son."

Nevertheless, he invited Krauss over and she sat with him for a while, catching him up on her life. "So then about seven hours later he called me with a title," Krauss said. "He said it's called Paper Airplane."

It is an unusual song in that it's completely personal for Krauss, yet she didn't write a single word. It proved to be Krauss' favourite and became the title track, leading off the album. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NATIONAL VOLUNTEER WEEK

NO MATTER HOW IT'S DONE, THANKING VOLUNTEERS IS A VALUABLE PART OF THE PROCESS

The volunteer energy young people bring to community-cleanup projects make them even more successful.

VOLUNTEER OTTAWA

Canadians have a rich history of volunteering and community involvement. In fact, 12.5 million men, women and youth dedicate their time, energy and skills across a multitude of sectors, including health care, sports, arts, disaster relief and firefighting, to name just a few.

National Volunteer Week, which is running from April 10 to 16, is the perfect time to extend a sincere thank you to each and every one of them. "Most volunteers would say they get more out of their volunteer work than they give," says Ruth MacKenzie, Volunteer Canada's president and CEO. "But it's really important for an organization to recognize their volunteers' contribution in a tangible way, even if it's just once a year."

Since this type of work is often a very personal endeavour—many volunteers have close emotional ties to the causes they choose to participate in—MacKenzie says it's a good idea for the staff members who benefit from the volunteers' help to get to know each volunteer as an individual, then tailor a thank-you gift based on each person's interests.

For example, a teenager might enjoy receiving a movie gift card. MacKenzie cites an example of a retired volunteer who continued working in her sector and who was asked to attend a conference along with staff members, which helped foster her professional development and interest in learning even though her paying career was over. Or maybe the volunteer's supervisor does something as simple as mail a heartfelt handwritten thank-you card.

"Regardless of what you do, it's critically important to say thank you every time a volunteer walks through your door," says MacKenzie. "Volunteers aren't getting paid—and they're not giving of themselves in order to be thanked—but people love to feel appreciated."

by Jane Doucet

MORE WAYS TO SAY THANKS

Every year, Volunteer Canada sells special National Volunteer Week thank-you gifts, which are available at the NVW online store at www.brymark.com/volcaneng1. The gifts include a key chain, picture frame, tote bag, travel tumbler, pen and thank-you cards.

Items such as these are ideal if an organization is hosting an awards ceremony or a more low-key volunteer-recognition gathering. If an organization doesn't have the budget to buy something, there's a volunteer certificate of appreciation available as a free download at volunteer.ca/nvw/nvw-downloads, and a free digital thank-you card will be available on the site in the near future.

For British actor Kit Harrington, being called a bastard was something he had to quickly become accustomed to. Harrington portrays Jon Snow, the illegitimate son of Ned Stark (Sean Bean) in the epic new HBO Canada series Game of Thrones.

The show is based on a hugely popular series of fantasy novels by George R. R. Martin.

Think Lord of the Rings with less magic and orcs and add in a big helping of political manoeuvring akin to The Tudors.

Harrington spoke to Metro recently while in Toronto filming Silent Hill Revelations 3-D about taking on the role of Snow and playing a bastard.

"It's everything that he is. He is kind, he is loyal to his family, but underneath it all he is the bastard, the illegitimate child," Harrington said. "He's the bastard child of this very famous man who is famous for being a good loyal man."

With little in the way of future prospects, Snow opts to volunteer for lifelong service in the Night's Watch, a group of celibate fighters who man The Wall, the northern border of the Seven Kingdoms.

"I think it's the only place he can go," Harrington said. "He needs to go somewhere to be his own man. At this place he can not just be a bastard, but an equal among men and I can rise to the top."

The Wall, which makes the Great Wall of China look like a cubicle, is just one of several settings the Game of Thrones exposes to viewers.

Despite having such a large cast and many different story arcs, Game of Thrones is able to do an excellent job of not moving too fast or making things confusing for those that have no knowledge of the book series.

Harrington himself had no knowledge of the books before being cast in the pilot, although he has since read all four of them. He acknowledged that there is pressure on him to get the role of Jon Snow right for the fans of the series.

"There is a balancing act in that you've got to take it (the role) and make it your own, but also you've got to not make it so much your own that it's not the character anymore," Harrington said.

Game of Thrones premiers Sunday 9 p.m. ET on HBO Canada.

Has Scarlett moved in with Sean Penn?

Scarlett Johansson is reportedly living with Sean Penn now after three months of dating, according to Us Weekly.

The Iron Man 2 actress has been spending most of her time at Penn's $3.8 million Malibu home and "has essentially moved in over the last few weeks," sources tell the magazine.

The pair have been keeping their public outings to a minimum and prefer to "just stay home" when they can, hanging out with Penn's two children — daughter Dylan, 20, and son Hopper, 17 — and pals like Javier Bardem and Owen Wilson.

Family stress getting to Catherine Zeta-Jones

Catherine Zeta-Jones has checked herself into a mental health facility, according to Popeater.

"After dealing with the stress of the past year, Catherine made the decision to check in to a mental health facility for a brief stay to treat her Bipolar II Disorder," her rep confirms.

The actress has been under considerable stress this year, first from her stepson, Cameron Douglas, being sent to prison on drug charges, and then from her husband, Michael Douglas, battling throat cancer.

"Catherine had a lot of trouble coping [with Douglas' cancer]," a source says. "She was chain smoking and drinking."

Aniston, Cooper 'in contact'

After one alleged date in 2009, Jennifer Aniston and newly single Bradley Cooper are now reportedly back in touch, according to People magazine.

"In the past few weeks, they have stayed in contact," a source says.

"Jen always had a soft spot for Bradley, and she thinks he is very attractive and charming." When their first outing two years ago was caught by paparazzi, Cooper quickly dismissed any romantic notions, saying, "She's a friend of mine. Simply, simply, just a friend."

Arquette's not over Courteney

David Arquette and Courteney Cox may still be separated, but it's not for any lack of trying on Arquette's part.

The actor admits to trying to reignite the romance in their relationship during a recent trip to Disney Land with their daughter.

"This is the happiest place on Earth! Let's make it happier!" Arquette says of the trip in an interview with Howard Stern.

Pressed by Stern on whether his attempts even led to a kiss from his estranged wife, Arquette says, "A little bit. It was like we were ... eighth graders. Seventh graders."

The first, French Toast Grilled Cheese, is the creation of executive chef Melissa Craig of the Bearfoot Bistro in Whistler, B.C. The second, Fried Egg and Tuna Toast, uses English muffins or olive bread.

French Toast Grilled Cheese Sandwich

Ingredients:
- 1 loaf of walnut dried cranberry bread
- 1 wheel (8 oz/250 g) camembert cheese
- 3 eggs
- 1/4 cup (50 mL) 15% or 18% table cream
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 cup (50 mL) unsalted butter

Honey Pepper Roasted Figs:
- 8 ripe figs
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) unsalted butter
- 2 tbsp (25 mL) wildflower honey
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) Port wine
- 1/4 tsp (1 mL) cracked black pepper
- Pinch fresh tarragon

Preparation:

1 Slice cranberry bread into 6 x 1/2-inch (8 cm x 1 cm) slices. In bowl, whisk eggs with cream, salt and pepper. Soak bread in egg mix for 1 minute on each side.

2 In skillet set over medium heat brown bread. Slice cheese and place on half of the toast; top with remaining toast. Place on baking sheet; before serving, place in 350 F (180 C) oven to melt cheese.

3 Cut stems off figs and cut in half. In heavy-bottom saucepan, melt butter over medium heat and add figs, sauté gently for 2 minutes. Add honey and port and reduce by half until syrupy consistency. Stir in cracked pepper and fresh tarragon. Slice heated sandwich in two and spoon figs and syrup over top. THE CANADIAN PRESS/ ALLYOUNEEDISCHEESE.CA/GRILLED CHEESE

Mesmerizing MacMurray ranch & wine

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

Though I'm not easily impressed, a combination of sparkling personality and stunning vineyard views had me at hello while I was touring California's Sonoma County.

I was visiting MacMurray Ranch in the gorgeous Russian River Valley.

Now owned by E & J Gallo, it was originally a cattle ranch built by Fred MacMurray — the Hollywood icon and star of TV's My Three Sons.

MacMurray loved the ranch and I got a sense of how important the ranch was to him from my tour guide: His gregarious daughter Kate, who lives on the propert in a cabin built by her father with more than a little help from John Wayne.

The property really came to life during a tour with Kate behind the wheel of a four-wheel-drive and me riding shotgun

Between great stories of other Tinseltown royalty that hung out at the ranch, our conversation turned to wine and how pinot noir has become synonymous with her surname.

One of her favourites is the MacMurray Ranch 2007 Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir ($19.99 - $30.79) - a plump, berry-driven red that makes a great match for grilled salmon, roast chicken and other seasonal fare.

Price gets Montreal off on the right foot

Canadiens goalie turns aside 31 shots in Game 1 victory in Boston

Carey Price returned as Montreal's starting playoff goalie with his third postseason shutout and Brian Gionta scored twice as the Canadiens opened their series in Boston with a 2-0 win on Thursday night.

Price started just one of the Canadiens' 19 playoff games last year when they were seeded eighth but reached the Eastern Conference finals before losing to the Philadelphia Flyers. Jaroslav Halak started the others but was traded to the St. Louis Blues in June.

This season Price started 70 games for the Habs and was outstanding in Game 1.

Gionta scored at 2:45 of the first period on a pass from Scott Gomez from the left boards. Gionta and Matthew Darche both got behind the Bruins defence with Darche directly in front of goalie Tim Thomas and Gionta on the right side of the crease. Darche let the puck go by and Gionta put it in between Thomas and the post.

Gomez also assisted on Gionta's other goal at 16:42 of the third period.

The game was played cleanly without any fights. The heated rivals had several physical confrontations during the regular season.

Price's outstanding performance was a major change from his last two games in Boston in which he allowed 13 goals. He let in all of Boston's goals in an 8-6 Montreal win on Feb. 9 and five in a 7-0 loss on March 24. And he was the losing goalie in all four games in the opening playoff round in 2009 when Boston swept Montreal.

Raps' spirits high after tough year

Players optimistic even as team finishes with only 22 wins Contracts of Colangelo and Triano expire in June

After just 22 wins on another season that had ended too early, Jay Triano's biggest surprise when he met with his players one last time Thursday: Their optimism.

The Toronto Raptors were surprisingly upbeat and hopeful about the future as they packed up their lockers on the heels of their third-worst season in franchise history.

Amid the mounting losses and frustrating injuries, the players said team chemistry was at an all-time high, and they were unified in their support for their head coach Triano.

The feeling was mutual. Asked if he was keen to come back next season, Triano said. "Absolutely. I don't think anybody wants to raise kids for two years and then put them up for adoption.

"Stack that money, save that money, because we know there's going to be a lockout."
REGGIE EVANS ON THE POTENTIAL OF AN NBA LABOUR DISPUTE

"I think we have a great thing going with our young players, with their attitude, with the way they respond to the coaches, with the way our coaches respond to them," he added. "And I want to be part of that and grow with these players."

Nothing is a given however in this off-season of uncertainty, including Triano's job with Toronto. The Raptors have an option for another year on his contract that has to be picked up by June. The contract of president and GM Bryan Colangelo also expires in late June.

The players would like to see both back.

"They did a great job, always keeping us positive, always talking to us, helping us, working with us every day," said DeMar DeRozan.

A day after losing 97-79 to the Miami Heat in their season finale, the players met with the media one by one before they left the Air Canada Centre for various points abroad, and the recurring theme was how well the team stuck together to weather a tough season. THE CANADIAN PRESS

SCOTT RUSSELL
FIELD OF PLAY

POLITICIANS IN TUNE WITH PUCK POWER

Power and politics ... it pales to the popular Canadian consensus of the hockey puck.

Witness the leaders' debate on the eve of the annual Stanley Cup pilgrimage. The party kingpins were shown getting off buses, out of limousines, jauntily waving to the crowd on the arena's threshold in the winter nation's capital.

It looked a lot like the Canucks or the Hawks on their way into the rink moments before a much anticipated playoff rivalry. They had a photo op, shook hands … just like the hockey gods do before a big international match.

Heck, the show cobbled together around the buildup to the gabfest was even called ... "Countdown to Debate."

Sound familiar?

The pundits who analyzed the confrontation prior to the festive faceoff spoke of someone trying to land a "knockout blow." Or that maybe Harper, (the PM), might be "the target of a power play and end up a punching bag for the other three."

The analogies were flying around like Guy Lafleur when the mighty Habs took on Don Cherry's battling Bruins.

Speaking of which, the party leaders knew they were overmatched in Quebec and moved the French language debate to avoid a conflict with Game 1 of the Boston-Montreal series.

You've got to give the politicians credit for pragmatism on that one.

"We all know hockey is very popular in Canada and also in Quebec," granted Bloc Québécois Leader Gilles Duceppe.

Hello!

"I think it would be a better choice to have that debate on Wednesday so that people who like hockey will have the full opportunity to see the debate and then listen to the hockey game on Thursday night," Duceppe continued.

Translation … everyone with a TV!

It's like Roch Carrier, one of French Canada's most popular writers, said of life in Quebec in his timeless story, The Hockey Sweater.

"We lived in three places — the school, the church and the skating rink — but our real life was on the skating rink," wrote Carrier. "The real leaders showed themselves on the skating rink."

When it comes to the post-season and a concurrent election campaign in Canada, that axiom still holds water. Watch how many of the party leaders show up to shake a few paws whenever the Canadiens or Canucks hit the ice at home in Montreal or Vancouver.

Good politics in this country means getting close to the power of the puck.

Jays seek G20 compensation

The Toronto G20 summit struck out big time with the city's baseball team, prompting the Blue Jays to seek almost half a million dollars in compensation from the federal government.

The high-level, high-security meetings forced the team to shift a series of games to Philadelphia.

The move spoiled the keenly anticipated appearance of ace Philadelphia pitcher Roy Halladay, whom the Jays traded to the Phillies during the off-season.

Downtown Toronto became a high-security zone late last June when leaders of the G20 countries met for talks, disrupting many popular events at the height of tourist season.

The Blue Jays declined to discuss their compensation applications. "We will not be making a public comment on this issue," said Jays spokesman Jay Stenhouse. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Loss of revenue

- The Jays filed a claim for $470,854 after needing to shift a series of games to Philadelphia due to the G20 summit, records obtained by The Canadian Press show.

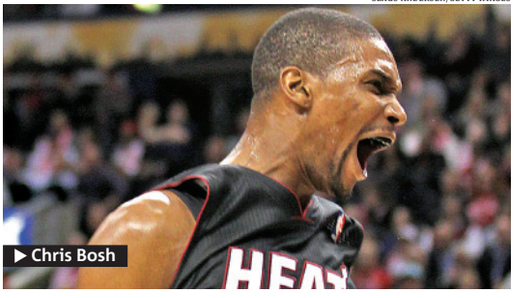
Heat's Bosh itching for playoffs to start

Former Raptor has just three wins in 12 career post-season games

CLAUS ANDERSEN/GETTY IMAGES



▶ Chris Bosh

Chris Bosh stammered slightly when trying to explain how NBA playoff games are rougher and tougher than ones in the regular season.

He had to really think about his answer.

"Yeah, it's been a while for me," Bosh said.

Quite an understatement.

That's one of the many reasons why Bosh came to the Miami Heat, who expect a bit more than just getting out of the first round.

Miami's post-season starts Saturday, when the Philadelphia 76ers visit for Game 1 of the Eastern Conference quarter-finals. To say Bosh has been waiting somewhat impatiently for the playoff challenge to arrive, well, that also would be quite an understatement.

"The past week felt like a month," Bosh said as the regular season wound down. "It's gone by very slow."

From the first day Bosh joined LeBron James and Dwyane Wade in Miami, the Heat have been vilified.

Bosh took that harder than most at times.

Then, just before the all-star break, he said he felt "unappreciated" by some around the league.

"But my teammates here appreciate me," Bosh said.

That was proven over the season's final month when the Heat started giving Bosh the ball more. His field goal percentage rose six per cent over the season's final five weeks.

The Heat were the only team in the league with three players ranked among the NBA's top-25 scorers this season, with James second (26.7) and Wade fourth (25.5). Bosh's 18.7 ranked 24th.

That makes him often Miami's forgotten man.

The last time Bosh won a championship was high school. With the Raptors, he never even really got to know what leading a series felt like.

He has waited a long time to change his playoff fortunes.

"We know the challenge in front of us," Bosh said. "We have the type of team that does whatever it takes to win. If we need to be more physical, we're going to do that. If we need to rebound more, we're going to do that. More paint points, we're going to do that."

Flustered by Ferrer

Milos Raonic's clay-court debut came to a grinding halt Thursday in a 6-1, 6-3 loss to Spain's David Ferrer in the third round of the Monte Carlo Masters. The 20-year-old from Thornhill was overwhelmed for the second time this season by Ferrer. Ferrer beat Raonic in January at the Australian Open.

DEVELOPMENT OF MEMORY IN CHILDREN
IS YOUR CHILD BETWEEN THE AGES OF 7 AND 16?

We invite you to participate in our study on Children's Memory Development. This study looks at thinking abilities affecting children's memory and how they relate to a child's age.
The study involves two 2-hour sessions and will take place in our lab at York University or another convenient location.
We will compensate you for your time and travel expenses, and children will receive a token of appreciation. Older children will also receive a certificate for volunteer hours. You will also receive a brief report of your child's performance on the tasks.

For further information or to volunteer for the study, contact Lila Elkhadem, M.A., lila@yorku.ca

Your a great friend, but I think about you more than just that. One day you'll see how much you mean to me than just being one of my best friends. EBONY

My dearest B-Dawg, Don't let them haters keep you off your grind. As soon as you hit the stage, applause you'll be hearing it. Just hop out of bed and turn your swag on. You'll be ground shakin', show stoppin', amazing. M. BROWN

Valerie, You are the most beautiful person both inside and out that I have ever met. There is no other for me. Maury and all the gang miss the number one pea of the pod. Please forgive and give this silly pea another chance. Love, THE OTHER PEA
